Power Tips

The first thing your supervisor should know is this is a unique professional development opportunity that will enhance your job performance and ultimately benefit your facility. Sharing information is critical to ensuring your supervisor understands the value of the event and your commitment to taking advantage of it in the right way. Try these tips to help justify the time and expense:

Position as one-stop shopping for research and bargains.

Find out what products and services your facility plans to purchase soon and calculate the amount of money you could save by researching these products in person and capitalizing on Trade Show-only discounts.

Customize your participation to benefit your facility.

Evaluate education and events available at the GCSAA Conference and Trade Show and select those most applicable to your facility's needs.

Highlight unique value.

Show your supervisor what's included with your event registration, such as education networking with industry leaders focused on best practices and cost-saving measures. and hands-on training on the Trade Show floor.

Cover your absence.

Prepare a detailed work schedule that shows how you'll cover all your responsibilities at the facility while you are attending this event.

Deliver results.

Offer to provide a short presentation upon your return to share what you've learned for the benefit of your facility's entire team.

Dear < supervisor's name >,

I'm requesting approval to attend an event specially designed to improve my work and directly benefit <insert facility name here>. The 2022 GCSAA Conference and Trade Show and GCSAA Golf Championships in San Diego taking place Feb 5 – 10 in San Diego.

The GCSAA Conference offers 81 seminars (41 of which are NEW) and 28 Power Hours featuring practical, innovative solutions to the biggest issues facing superintendents and facilities today. Over half the total education and ALL the free education is new for 2022.

- · Irrigation management
- · Plant health
- · Water conservation
- Soil health and fertility
- · Weed management
- · Budgeting and increasing the ROI of our course
- · Building and managing successful teams

This is a great opportunity for me to learn from other golf course management experts and spend valuable time with vendors offering innovative products and services that could enhance our work, and help us save time and money. Access to all of this expertise in one place is not available anywhere else.

Participation in the GCSAA Golf Championships gives me more than 30hrs of networking with over 350 of my peers to help cultivate long-term relationships and find out first-hand how other facilities maintain and manage their courses.

I have already identified a number of classes that I am confident would make me more valuable to our facility. I chose each of these classes carefully because they directly relate to an issue we are dealing with currently or may face in the near future. Below are a few examples of the classes I am interested in:

<insert seminars and Power Hours here>.

I would like to further discuss the value of my attendance at the 2022 GCSAA Conference and Trade show at your earliest convenience. The cost of my attendance is a solid investment that will ensure our facility continues to be successful well into the future. Please see the attached document for a better idea of cost specifics.

Thank you for your consideration.
