Hunter Industries to Unveil New Golf Innovations at the 2025 GCSAA Conference

SAN MARCOS, Calif. — Jan. 23, 2025

Hunter Industries will showcase its latest golf innovations at the 2025 GCSAA Conference in its hometown of San Diego, California.

Conference attendees can view live product demos showing how the new Pilot Navigator™ App pairs perfectly with Total-Top-Serviceable TTS-800 Series Golf Rotors for consistent, reliable performance and easy upkeep. With mobile access and new cloud-based features, this intuitive system offers an improved display, better functionality, plus convenient control and monitoring, allowing users to enhance playability, save time, and boost efficiency — from any location on any device.

- New remote control function enables easy system management anytime, anywhere
- Cloud-based backups store the database and map, giving users peace of mind if the computer ever needs to be restored
- Additional viewing options let users access more data and see multiple courses at once to simplify run time adjustments
- Web-based interface optimizes the display in a browser, allowing users to see more of the Command Center on a single screen

“The reliable Pilot Control Network, intuitive Pilot Navigator App, and powerful TTS-800 Series Golf Rotors provide golf superintendents with everything they need to manage irrigation more efficiently, giving them more time to focus on their next priority.”

—Carl Eberts, Golf Category Manager
